

I am anoid with the cost of having a phone at all. I dropped my cell phone because it was cheaper to pay the penalty of $10 a month for the last three months of the contract than to keep it and pay for that phone as well as my landline which has soared out of site. I tried to drop the land line and transfer my number to my cell phone. Not only was their a charge but they considered that a whole new contract for the cell phone and the cell and landline companies are owed by the SAME FOLKS. After 30 years of being a good customer, I thought this was outrageous. Am again considering going to cell only. Am researching the possibilities but am very tired of the rip offs. Helen Phillips
